

2.4 Kettleman City

A meteorology tower was located on a farm about 12 km north of Kettleman City off Omaha Avenue about 3 km west of Highway 41 (Figure 9). In order to minimize the impact that the tower and its guy wires would have on farming operations, the tower was attached to the west side a small trailer containing electronics and computers for air quality sensors. Two shallow ponds used to store water for irrigation purposes were located west of the tower (Figure 10).
